FROM BRAGG TO BERCHTESGADEN

with the Moving-est Battalion in World War II.

The 813th Tank Destroyer Battalion was activated the 15th December, 1941 at Fort Bragg, N. C., formed out of the 17th F. A., the 36th F. A., and the 178th F. A. into the 13th F. A. Provisional Anti-Tank Battalion with towed 75mm guns, training thus for six months until the formation and activation of the 813th T. D. Bn. This activation included members of the 17th F. A., the 36th F. A., the 178th F. A., the 47th F. A., the 72nd F. A., the 6th F. A., the 4th F. A. and the 112th F. A.

August 6th, 1942 the Battalion sailed from New York for the United Kingdom where it undertook further training and remained until sailing for N. Africa on the 6th of January, 1943. It participated in the Tunisian campaign, working variously with the British, French and U.S. 34th Infantry Division. A major part of the Battalion went to Sicily with the 3rd Infantry Division and 13th Field Artillery Brigade. During the above period the Battalion was equipped with 75mm guns mounted on the M-3 Halftrack.

The summer of 1943 saw the Battalion equipped with the M-10 (3" gun) S-P Tank Destroyer and a portion of the Battalion took part in the invasion of Italy, attached to the 82nd Airborne Division. Early in November of 1943 the Battalion again set sail for the United Kingdom where it was completely re-equipped with M-10's and trained for the invasion of France.

The Battalion was among the first waves of the Invasion of Normandy landing at Utah Beach, on D plus 21 days. It went on line with the 79th Infantry Division immediately, with which Division it remained for the greater portion of the European Campaigns.

Playing a major role in the taking of La Haye du Puits, spearheading the drive of the U.S. Third Army to Fougères, Laval, Le Mans, and north to Alençon to close the Falaise Gap the Battalion rolled along, rolling up an impressive record with every kilometer. The Falaise pocket closed, the Battalion drove east towards Paris, suddenly the orders changed and it veered sharply north to Mantes-Gassicourt across the Seine River to become the first Allied Armor east of the Seine.

Smashing out of the Seine bridgehead the Battalion accompanied the First Army drive to the Belgian Border. Here it cut south to join the right flank of the Third Army battering east to Carmes, Lunéville and through the bloody Forêt de Parroy, through Sarrebourg, Saverne, Haguenau and the bitter winter campaign in Alsace, with the 7th Army.

Relieved from the line in February 1944 the Battalion went to the 9th Army where it was equipped with M-36 and M-36 B1 Tank Destroyers mounting the 90mm gun. It became the first Armor across the Rhine in the 21st Army Group sector on March 24th, and then supported infantry elements in cleaning out the Ruhr, later operating as Military Government until ordered to the 7th Army.

Another long road march through the bomb-wrecked cities of Cologne and Frankfurt, brought it down south into the Alps and Hitler's redoubt area, to and beyond Berchtesgaden and finally, V-E Day.

From Bragg to Berchtesgaden, the 813th Tank Destroyer Battalion has come all the long, rough road to victory in Europe, playing its role in every European Campaign.
